Former German Field Marshal Acquitted Of Treason Charges

Strong Feeling in Favor of Ludendorff Marks Process of Trial

By Associated Press

Munich, Bavaria—General Erich Ludendorff, former German field marshal, was acquitted Tuesday of the charge of treason for his part in the unsuccessful revolt here last November.

Adolf Hitler and former Chief of Police Poehner were convicted and each was sentenced to five years imprisonment and fined 200 gold marks.

Dr. Weber and Colonel Kriebel, accused of being Hitler's aides, received like sentences.

Dr. Frick, former president of the Munich district, Captain Boehm, Lieutenant Henry Buerck, who is now in the stepson, and Lieutenants Bruckner and Wagner were given 15 months and fined 100 marks each.

TROOPS GUARD CITY

The main streets of Munich and all the approaches to the courthouse presented the picture of an armed camp. Steel helmeted troops and heavy reinforcements of Bavarian police patrolled the streets, dispersing pedestrians.

An ordinance proclaimed late Monday night by the prefect threatened participants in riots or mob gatherings with penitentiary sentences or even capital punishment. These precautions were taken with a view to suppressing hostile demonstrations by the followers of the men on trial.

Hitler's followers arranged to signal news of the verdict from the houseposts by wig-wagging, as the police authorities prohibited public posting of the verdict and severely restricted admissions to the court chamber.

It became known Tuesday that Hitler, Nationalistic, and Ludendorff had nominated Ludendorff and Poehner for Reichstag seats.

LUDENDORFF FAVORED

The trial at Munich occupied more than a month and much of the testimony was taken behind closed doors. A strong feeling in favor of Ludendorff who made no attempt to hide his Nationalistic beliefs marked the entire proceedings.

The revolt for which the men were tried has been called the "beer cellar putsch," as it was before a gathering of Bavarian government officials in the Burgerbrau cellar that Hitler and his followers suddenly appeared on the night of November 8, fired shots to obtain silence and dramatically announced the overthrow of the government, proclaiming a dictatorship over the entire country with Hitler at the head of the government and Ludendorff as commander in chief of the army.

Poehner was to be premier of Bavaria.

FINANCE BOARD VOTES TO SLASH TAX ON INCOMES

Senate Committee Approves Retroactive Reduction of 25 Per Cent

Washington, D. C.—The senate finance committee approved Monday night, that portion of the tax revision bill authorizing a retroactive reduction of 25 per cent in taxes paid during 1924 on 1923 incomes. Through the adoption of this section the committee now has ready a provision to this extent in case the revenue bill should fail. If, as is now hoped, the bill is passed, taxpayers will receive their benefits through this section of that measure.

Another important step by the committee was the elimination of the present $1 per $1,000 business tax on capital stock, and the consequent substitution of 14 per cent for the present 12 1/2 per cent capital tax stock levy.

Another amendment adopted by a vote of 5 to 4 would tax the latest on tax exempt securities that may be issued after the passage of the revenue act.

CHARGES PUBLICITY SECTION

A change was made in the section allowing publicity of income tax returns to certain congressional committees. As the house sent over the bill, the finance, ways and means and "special" committees of either house would have access to tax details, but the finance committee, Monday night, struck out the words "or a special committee," and made this read "or a standing or select committee authorized by resolution."

Milwaukee—The federal government Tuesday moved to close the Green Bay Brewing Co. plant at Green Bay, when United States District Attorney Roy L. Morse obtained a temporary restraining order from the United States District Court barring operation of the plant for one year.

An appeal on the writ will be heard April 4, to determine whether it should not be made permanent. The writ was issued under the "padlock" provision of the Volstead act.

Senate Leader Disclaims Dilatory Probe Tactics

COOLIDGE SEEKS MAN TO TAKE DAUGHERTY'S POST

Washington, D. C.—President Coolidge is approaching a decision with respect to a successor to Harry M. Daugherty as attorney general and indications were given Tuesday after the executive had conferred again with Senator Pepper, Republican of Pennsylvania, that the selection would be made within two days.

The president has ascertained which of those under consideration would accept the place if it were offered them and now is engaged in choosing among them.

Manitowoc Strike Is First in Years

MANITOWOC STRIKE IS FIRST IN YEARS

Manitowoc—Manitowoc Tuesday faced its first labor strike in years when nine electricians and six carpenters, members of unions, walked out because of failure to secure recognition of the union and demands for increased pay, and in the case of the electricians, for shorter hours. Two electrical shops are affected and one contracting carpenter. There was said to be a chance for adjustment of the carpenters' walkout but a fight appears certain in the electrical workers' case.

Carpenters demanded a scale of 20 cents an increase of 10 cents, and rejected a compromise offer of 5 cents, it is said. Electrical workers, who have had a nine-hour day at 50 cents, asked for an eight hour day at 20 cents per hour.

Court Seeks To Speed Up Clerk's Work

By Associated Press

Madison—The supreme court Tuesday issued an order directing the reporter of a central Wisconsin circuit court to show cause why he has not transcribed notes in a case and furnished testimony to attorneys. The name of the court reporter involved was withheld. The procedure is an unusual one for the supreme court.

The action was taken as a means of speeding up dilatory court reports. It was said.

"No such order has ever been issued before by the supreme court to my knowledge," Arthur J. MacLean, clerk of the court, stated. "It is believed this is the first time in history of the court that it has taken up the matter of superintending control of circuit court work."

The case was set for hearing before the court on April 15.

Light Vote Is Being Cast in City Election

Total Vote at 1 O'Clock This Noon Is Third Less Than Two Years Ago

Voting was comparatively light up to noon Tuesday in Appleton. With 1,688 votes cast up to 1 o'clock, the total lacked about one-third of the count at the same hour in the majority election two years ago, when the number was 2,313.

Women were not voting in large numbers. Some wards recorded about as many men as women but in others the feminine vote was in the minority. It would average about one third of the total, election officials declare.

In all wards but one the vote was less at noon than two years ago. The Fifth ward had two more votes than in 1922. The First ward was about 200 below other years. The Second about 150 less. The Fourth about 75 below average and the Sixth 12 votes less.

The first to visit the polls in the respective wards were: First ward, first precinct, Joseph Kappehl, 319 Eldorado-st. second precinct, Joseph Marston, 663 Lawrence-st. third precinct, E. L. Williams, city clerk, second precinct, 680 State-st. John Schleiber, 1059 Spencer-st. second precinct, John Pivoni, 1340 Second-st. It was arranged that Mr. Sinclair should be allowed to make plea immediately on his arrival here, J. W. Zevely, Sinclair's attorney, said he was unable to say whether his client would come to Washington Tuesday.

DAUGHERTY HAD HAND IN FRAUD TRIAL, CHARGE

Former Official of State Tells of Boasted Part in Harding Nomination

"JAKE WAS GREAT KIDDER"

"Wilson Is Reputable Gentleman" But Was Victim of Joke, Witness Claims

Washington, D. C.—Resuming its inquiry into the story of an oil deal at the Chicago Republican convention of 1920, the oil committee Tuesday was told by R. H. Wilson, former superintendent of public instruction in Oklahoma, of a "hoax" by Jake Hamon, the oil operator who was serving as that state's Republican national committeeman, that he had "put over" the nomination of Warren G. Harding.

Hamon was quoted as saying, he had given $25,000 to Harry M. Daugherty for the Harding campaign fund. In the early days of the campaign, the witness said, Hamon had appeared friendly to the candidacy of Leonard Wood.

Wilson said, under questioning, that Hamon had made no reference in his talk with him to naval oil lands or leases.

J. E. Dyche, who identified himself as a prohibition agent with headquarters at Oklahoma City, followed Wilson in the witness chair. He said he had acted as manager of Hamon's campaign in 1920 for selection as Republican national committeeman.

"Nothing to it," Dyche said, "that Hamon had told him he gave $25,000 to the late Senator Penrose, Pennsylvania, $25,000 to William Flinn and $25,000 to Daugherty for the Harding nomination."

Asked about Jennings' testimony that Hamon had told him he spent money indiscriminately with the Oklahoma delegation, the witness replied:

CALLS JENNINGS LIAR

"If Jennings said that," he said, "there wasn't a dime spent on that delegation."

Dyche declared he was certain on at Chicago and went home with him and "he didn't even buy me a dinner."

"Jake's dead and gone now, gentlemen," Dyche said, "but I want to say that he did not try to throw the delegation. He insisted that he delegation cast two more ballots for Lowden after it wanted to switch to Harding, so there couldn't have been a deal there."

Asked as to the likelihood of Hamon's Jennings the story the former train robber had repeated to the committee, Dyche said people might say what they wanted about Hamon, "but they couldn't say he was a fool."

Asked about Wilson's testimony that Hamon had told him he had given Daugherty $25,000 for Harding's campaign expenses, Dyche said Wilson was a reputable gentleman.

"It was a lie," he said, "Wilson's statement that Hamon told him that," the witness said, "but I would say he was 'kidding him.' Jake was a great 'kidder' particularly when he was talking to Democrats."

Daugherty Had Hand in Fraud Trial, Charge

Former United State Attorney Tells of Letter from Attorney General

Washington, D. C.—Harry M. Daugherty's part in stopping trial of the "Miller brothers" Indian land fraud case in Oklahoma in the spring of 1921, was described Tuesday to the senate Daugherty investigating committee by H. M. Peck, former United States attorney of the western Oklahoma district.

The case involved 10,000 acres valued at $50 an acre Peck said. When it was ready for trial at Guthrie in May 1921, he added, a "personal" letter from Attorney General Daugherty directed that a continuance be taken to the fall term of court.

Peck described a request for his resignation received from Daugherty in September, 1921, and his subsequent reemployment as a special prosecutor for the government. He referred the committee to Senator Harrell of Oklahoma, as to the reasons for this reemployment.

Peck explained the case referred to was instituted against George L. Miller and associates, charged with defrauding Oklahoma Indians out of land. Indictments had been returned against the Miller Brothers in 1920, Peck said, and they were charged with defrauding a campaign to get the money from Indians as soon as the department of the interior gave the tribesman his allotment.

Still Have Lands

STILL HAVE LANDS

The criminal case ended in pleas of guilty and fines, the department of justice specifically directing that course to be taken, the witness said, but he added that no civil actions to recover the lands should be inaugurated, and that the Miller Brothers still had them.

Peck said that in four years' experience as United States attorney he had never known of another case in which the attorney general took such personal interest. Acceptance of the guilty plea in the criminal cases was decided on, the witness said, despite his recommendations that "penitentiary sentences" be demanded. The committee indicated it would get from files of the department of justice and the United States attorney's office in Oklahoma copies of the letters and messages in this case bearing Daugherty's signature.

Dawes Committee Nears End of Work

DAWES COMMITTEE NEARS END OF WORK

Paris—The preparation experts of the Dawes committee met Tuesday afternoon with the prospect brighter than at any time this week for a speedy winding up of their work.

Although General Dawes and Owen D. Young, his American associate, have booked their passage tentative for April 22, their assistants and counselors are planning an earlier departure, probably the end of next week.

The amount of the reparations burden to be laid upon the German railroads was expected to be settled Tuesday afternoon, with the smoothing out of the differences that have existed between the English and American delegates on this point. The English have contended that the percentage from the loan based on the railways was excessive while the Americans have argued it was far less than the burden the railroads in the United States were called on to bear after the Civil war. They have thus far refused to follow the British idea that the taxation standard demanded of the Germans was too high.

"Germany paid ten billion marks in taxes before the war," one of the American experts is said to have told his colleagues, "if we fix any lower figure our people, checking the figures, will upbraid us for letting them off over easily."

Deep Drifted Roads Make Travel Almost Impossible—Repair Damage

Effects of the blizzard Saturday are visible all over the county. Aside from window panes broken, store signs blown down and trees damaged, the fierce wind Saturday tore off a large portion of the roof of the wagon sheds at St. John Lutheran church in the town of Center. Eight sections of 12 or 14-foot roofing were snatched off leaving the sheds bare of roof for about 100 feet.

Sticks and wagon travel is difficult on country roads. Farmers, however, were busy Monday in an endeavor to open the roads for team travel, principally for the benefit of the milk carriers.

Two teams hitched to sleds of the Valley Dairy Products company became fatigued from a 15-mile haul of milk from north of Appleton Monday afternoon. When the teams were within a short distance of Appleton it was necessary to send out automobile trucks to relieve them. The milk was hauled to the city, while the teams waited before starting on their homeward trip. Since the teams could not have returned much before midnight, it is to be wondered how the farmers got along without milk cans Monday night.

Even a funeral had to be postponed Saturday on account of the storm. The hearse which started out to Mackville for the William Dorsey funeral was forced to turn back a short distance north of Appleton. The trip was made by sleigh Monday.

$500,000 DAMAGE

Milwaukee—A single thread of copper, stretching from Milwaukee to Janesville and another stretching to Madison were the only lines connecting the metropolises of Wisconsin Monday with the portions of the state lying west and north.

The storm was off the New England coast Monday and in its wake, extending westward across the Great Lakes region to the plateau region, snow was general. A high pressure area had dropped into the region, created by the low, and unseasonably cold weather prevailed in the eastern central and western states. Low records for the season were set, zero at Pierre, S. D., and 2 at Huron, S. D.

ONE PHONE LINE UP

The single circuit to Janesville was that of the Wisconsin Telephone Co. It was the only telephone circuit left after the storm west out of Milwaukee. No connections existed Monday with points north. The wire to Madison was that of the Western Union. No other connections existed west or north of the city.

The telephone company had nearly 100 linemen at work Monday morning. The wire chief expected to get into Cedarburg by Tuesday. Wires in the Fox river valley and north are in good shape, but the valley is not connected with Milwaukee because lines to that locality are down, with hundreds of breaks. Linemen repaired breaks on the Janesville-Madison circuit and the

FOUND MOST FORLORN SPOT WHEN MOORED IN BRILLION VILLAGE

No place in the world was quite so forlorn as the little town of Brillion after it had been buried beneath the Saturday blizzard, according to Joseph Moser of the town of Grand Chute.

Moser left for Brillion Friday morning to visit his mother, Mrs. Paul Moser, who is ill. The weather was fair and he expected to return the next day. He waited for hours at the depot with the assurance there "would be a train almost any time now." After hearing promises of this kind all Saturday and Sunday and again on Monday morning he decided to return to Brillion where he mostly a myth for the time being.

He therefore set out about Monday morning for the village of Potter, seven miles away. There he succeeded in boarding a Soo line train for Menasha. He finished the trip by interurban, reaching here Monday afternoon.

company got into the capital with a single circuit Sunday night.

POSTAL ALSO CUT OFF

The Postal Telegraph Co. also had hundreds of men on the job Monday. It had no outlet north.

Employees of the telephone company and the two telegraph companies estimated some 5,000 poles were down as the result of the storm, while the number of breaks in wires could not be estimated with any accuracy.

The appraisal Saturday, placing the damage done by the storm at about $200,000, was declared Monday to be far too low. Three times that figure was said to be more nearly the correct cost to the wire companies, and the estimate may be increased as the work of repairing the damage progresses.

AN OPEN LETTER TO WOMEN

Tells of Mrs. Vogel's Terrible Suffering and how she was Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Detroit, Michigan.—"My troubles were severe pains in my back and terrible bearing-down pains in my right side, also headaches and sleepless nights. I first began having troubles when I was 15, and they have increased as I grew older. A little booklet was left at my door, and I read what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for women and decided to try it. After the first week I could go to sleep every night and I stopped having that nervous feeling and got a better appetite. The doctor had always said that an operation was the only thing that would help me, but I never had any faith in an operation. Since the Vegetable Compound has started helping me I do not suffer the severe pains, feel stronger, and am able to do my own work. I am more than glad to tell my friends that it helps where other medicines have failed."

Mrs. GUS VOGEL, 6608 Pelouze St., Detroit, Michigan.

A record of fifty years service must convince women of the merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

When children begin to play outdoors, the clothes question becomes of paramount importance. Boys persist in being boys, and so do many of the girls as well. Keeping a reserve supply of clean clothes for them has become a well-nigh hopeless task — unless you use an electric washer.

Water, soap, a pressure of the finger on the electric switch, and clean clothes are a matter of minutes. It has been well said that Voss o'clock is nine o'clock, for the average family washing can easily be on the line by that time if a Voss Washer is used.

RARE OLD INSTRUMENT USED BY "JEAN SCHWILLER"

"The instrument upon which I now play was made by Carlo Antonio Testore, in A. D. 1750 and is considered the finest specimen of this old master's craftsmanship," says Jean Schwiller, playing at Fischer's Appleton today and tomorrow. It has been valued at figures varying between five and ten thousand dollars. The bow which I use was made by Dodd in London in 1740. Its original mounting is still intact. My first appearance on the vaudeville stage resulted in my being heard by Sir Oswald Stoll in 1909 who immediately booked me to appear at the London Hippodrome of which he was then Director. From thence to the London Pavilion where I was retained for a month; later to the London Palladium. Afterwards extensive touring of Great Britain, South Africa and the Continent of Europe.

The system which I employ on the stage was invented and produced by myself. It has proven that the extremely difficult feat of walking and playing is both possible and practical. For years it was laid down as a fundamental principle that in order to get necessary resonance while playing it was necessary to sit down, and slide out the end of the pin so that a firm connection was caused vibrations to ensue. By the same rule one might assume that the violin as well as the cello required to be played on the ground. My system has destroyed this century old theory. It has proven that by the unique system which I employ, whereby the instrument is suspended from the body, without however touching it, and without touching the ground, I am enabled to walk and play at the same time. This system by leaving the instrument as it were suspended in the air, enables the vibrations to be radiated in each and every direction and results in enhanced resonance.

AN SERVE VILLAGE AS SUPERVISOR AND AS CLERK, OPINION

torney General Tells Lons-orf That One Man Can Hold
Two Offices

It is legally possible for a village clerk also to hold the office of a supervisor, according to an opinion given by John A. Lonsdorf, district attorney Franklin E. Bump, assistant attorney general. The opinion is solicited with respect to an election in a neighboring county. "I am of the opinion that the offices of village clerk and supervisor of the village are compatible," said Bump. "The statutes do not prohibit the incumbent of the one office from holding the office of the other, and I am unable to perceive any conflict of the present duties of the offices that make them incompatible." In previous attorney general's opinions it has been held that incumbents of offices of aldermen may serve as supervisors. Mr. Lonsdorf said, similar opinion also was declared in reference to the offices of village president and county supervisor. A recent opinion of Mr. Bump, declared it legally impossible to combine the two offices of village president and county supervisor. In regard to the legality of nomination papers for town chairman filed the twelfth day before the election of the town of Freedom, Mr. Lonsdorf advised the person that such filing that date is valid.

ON THE SCREEN

ORMA TALMADGE AND CONWAY TEARLE IN
"SHE LOVES AND LIES"

Every man, woman and child who attends motion picture theatres has to come to look longingly for a Norma Talmadge picture, for she will awaken a performance which will awaken every fine element in their emotions as well as appeal to their artistic appreciation. In addition, every Norma Talmadge picture is based on a well known play or story, and acted by a cast that really merits the description of "all stars" in this respect. "She Loves and Lies" which will be shown at the New Biograph theatre, Wednesday and Thursday, is a typical Talmadge offering. Never has Miss Talmadge given a more sympathetic performance, never as she looked lovelier and never has she unfolded been more gripping nor stronger dramatically. No picture of the present day contains such a cast, particularly one which has for a star such a personality as Norma Talmadge.

NAME THE MAN

"Name the Man," a screen drama of great emotional intensity, which is interesting not only in its qualities as photoplay, but also because it is the first picture to be made in America by Victor Seastrom, noted Swedish director, opened yesterday at the Elite theatre.

The picture is from the latest novel by Sir Hall Caine, "The Master of the Man," and follows the original story faithfully. Mr. Seastrom has lived up to his European reputation of being one of the ablest directors of pictures. "Name the Man" is a truly great picture with a heart appeal from which even the most callous cannot escape. Mr. Seastrom makes the film an art as well as an entertainment.

Mae Busch, as Bessie Collier, the girl who is ejected from her home by a brutal step-father, and is wronged by the youthful judge, rises to what is considered her greatest emotional piece of acting. Conrad Nagel, as the youthful judge, gives a very finished performance and the large cast, including Fatsy Ruth Miller, Creighton Hale, Hobart Bosworth, De Witt C. Jennings, Evelyn Soble and others.

March 14, 1924

To those suffering or afflicted:
I, Kathryn Mitten had been a cripple for 14 years being unable to bend my right ankle and dragged my right foot when I walked. I also had an attack of bronchitis at the time I started with Williams' Home Method of Treatment.

My first treatment was at night and after the treatment I slept soundly all night. The next morning I was up early feeling fine and in a few days my cough was gone and every day my ankle improved until I can now walk as good as anyone. I have gained several pounds in weight and feel better than I have felt in years. In fact I don't remember of ever feeling any better at any time during my life. Your truly,
Kathryn Mitten.

This is just one of the many testimonials and letter of appreciation that we are receiving from grateful patients after a course of one HOME TREATMENT. (Weltmer Method).

Promise To Stay Sober For 5 Years

Elmer Martin and Carl Bitter have been sentenced to spend the next five years on the water wagon. Martin, who lives at Bennett-st and Second-ave, and Bitter, 651 Appleton-st, were charged with inebriety. Detective Matthew McGinnis and Officer John Kobussen answered the call to Appleton-Harris-st Saturday evening where the two men were reported to be engaged in a drunken brawl. Both men were in municipal court Monday morning and were sentenced to spend 60 days in the county workhouse, but when they took the pledge to let strong drink alone for the next five years, Judge A. M. Spencer suspended sentence. Martin had served a six-day sentence in the workhouse two months ago on a similar charge.

Prizes to Skaters
Each lady who visits the roller rink in the armory on Wednesday night will receive a box of bonbons, according to Charles Maloney, who is planning a "ladies night" for this time. He is also arranging a couples graceful skating contest to be conducted there Saturday night. At each session two couples will be selected as winners and a final contest between the six couples will be held on Easter Sunday, when the winners will be awarded gold medals.

support the principal players admirably.

The entire story is set on the tiny Isle of Man, off the coast of England, and is fully as powerful a novel as "The Christian." Sir Hall Caine's best known novel.

THE DARLING IN NEW YORK

Baby Peggy, the tiny starlet who has created such a sensation in film circles for her characterizations as a comedy kiddie, has been lifted into the ranks of big feature stars. She makes her initial appearance in a multi-reel production in "The Darling of New York," a dramatic crook story which has its setting in the New York Ghetto. The picture was filmed from an original story by King Baggot, who also directed, and Raymond L. Schrock, which shows at the Elite theatre next Thursday, Friday and Saturday, with a special matinee, Saturday, 2 and 3:30 for the school children.

STANDARD FIRE COUPLINGS WON'T COST LARGE SUM

Water Commission May Determine Today Whether Couplings Will Be Changed

Whether Appleton will adopt the standard type hose couplings and hydrant nozzles may be decided at a meeting of the Appleton water commission on Tuesday. The couplings and nozzles can be adjusted to make them standard without exorbitant expense, it has been learned from an investigation made by Fred R. Morris, assistant secretary of the commission. To make the change permission from the Wisconsin Fire Inspection bureau for the use of a set of dies will be necessary.

The city of Kaukauna, which has the same size of couplings as Appleton, which is 7 threads in the inch, had obtained a set of dies to change the thread of the female hose couplings and the hydrant nozzles, and Mr. Morris observed the work. It requires two men about a half hour to make the change on one hydrant, to the standard 7½ threads in the inch, which is recommended by the American Waterworks association. It also is necessary in Appleton's case to expand the diameter, and a device for that process is provided.

Should Appleton agree to standardizing the couplings, it is possible that this work will be postponed until after the busiest period of the season. Water department employees would make the adjustments at the hydrants, and firemen could make the changes on the hoses. Necessary adjustments also would be made at private plants.

Standardization of fire couplings has long been advocated by Chief George P. McGinnis of the Appleton fire department, and several cities of the Fox River valley have approved the plan. Cities could thereby render each other greater assistance, should the couplings be made uniform.

GOING TOO FAR

In launching an attack on other members of Mr. Coolidge's cabinet, namely, Mellon, Wallace and Hoover, the Democrats are carrying the drive against the administration too far. Investigations of the departments over which these men preside would be a purely partisan undertaking, and would be certain to react against those engaged in them. No one expected Mr. Mellon to give up his holdings or interest in private business when he became secretary of the treasury, nor is it to be presumed that he would show favoritism to companies in which he has investments in the application of the tax laws. He may not be quite as progressive as some of the ultras would like in his views on public questions in general, but he has made an unusually successful and valuable administrator of the public treasury.

There are some people who would prefer to have an amiable politician, who could fill their ears with prattle about the new democracy, to run the treasury department in a haphazard way and at excessive cost and waste to the taxpayers, to a skillful financier who could put the treasury on a business basis and save millions of dollars, particularly if the financier was a man of wealth. They would do better to appreciate public service on a plane with that which makes private business efficient, secure and profitable. They should be glad to have a man of genius instead of an incompetent politician in charge of their money. They ought, moreover, to accept Mr. Mellon's judgment on the tax question ahead of that of the demagogues who are trying to make it a purely political issue.

The resolution for an investigation of Secretary Mellon is presumptuous and uncalled for. Hoover and Wallace also have made excellent secretaries, and it is ridiculous to talk of investigating them. The Democrats can very easily overdo their assault upon the government, and they will overdo it if they attack administrators of the standing of these cabinet officers. They have enough to do with Daugherty and Oil. A thorough job in these fields is all the country asks or expects of them, it is about all, we think, it can stand. All government is not corrupt or dishonest. On the contrary, the structure in the main is sound and upright. Graft and betrayal of public trust have followed in the wake of the World war, as they attend every great war. Those upon whom we relied to protect the country against thieves and profiteers may not have been as vigilant or as energetic as we should have liked, but the evil-doers have brought about their own undoing and exposure, and we shall get rid of them and clean house. When that is done we shall in truth be back to normalcy.

PEACE IN THE COAL INDUSTRY

The three-year agreement between representatives of the operators and miners negotiated last month at Jacksonville, Florida, which provides for a continuance of the present wage scale, has been ratified by a vote of the United Mine Workers. We are thus assured of a comparatively long period of peace in the bituminous coal industry. Last September the anthracite miners resumed work on a two-year contract, so that we are also assured of a hard coal supply for that period, all of which will be welcomed by the consumer.

The question of price to the consumer now becomes a matter of public control. The spread between the cost of coal at the mines, plus a fair return to the operators and with wages included, and the price in the bin is too large. It is not, in our opinion, the fault of the local coal dealer, nor is it to be charged to the wages paid the miners and the total producing cost. It is somewhere along the line between the mine and the bin, but thus far the investigations attempted by the government have not disclosed where or why.

A hold-up in the hard coal industry is due to monopolistic causes. There is no reasonable doubt of this. The causes which have demoralized the soft coal industry are not remedied by the three-year wage agreement. There are still too many mines operating and too many miners employed. Many lay-offs and part-time employment are inevitable, for under continuous operation of the mines there would be heavy overproduction. More trouble is certain to follow at the end of three years unless this problem is solved in the meantime. Both sides are, we believe, coming to the conclusion that industrial warfare does not pay. What the country wants to see is first, effective regulation of the hard coal monopoly, and second, a reorganization of the soft coal industry that will eliminate high cost mines and overproduction, and will guarantee a requisite number of workers continuous and full time employment at good wages. If these things can be accomplished within the next two or three years we shall be on a fair way to the elimination of strikes and dissension, as well as removal of unjust burdens on the consumer.

THE PRESIDENT TAKES A HAND

Mr. Coolidge, through his private secretary, has sent to George A. Paddock, past-commander of the American Legion, the following telegram which deserves to have wide publicity:

The president asks me to express his deep interest and complete sympathy with the purpose of Northwestern University and the American Legion mass meeting which you are holding with the intent of giving utterance to a patriotic expression of devotion to Americanism and to the flag. He feels that the flag, as the symbol of our best and deepest sentiments, must always be assured the respect and devotion of all who presume to be worthy the privilege of American citizenship.

A handful of weak-kneed, pink-brained, near-males, down at Northwestern university got carried away on a wave of pacifism, jeered the American flag and pledged themselves never to fight for their country, even in a war of defense. Instead of sending them home to be placed across their parents' knees and soundly spanked, the university is tolerating their presence and neurotic manifestations.

The American Legion and loyal students of the university have taken the matter in their hands and are making it hot for these youths who ought to be wearing skirts instead of trousers. They are asking the college authorities to require every student to sign an oath of allegiance to the government. We hope they succeed. The president's message ought to help them and it ought to bolster up the determination of the University to expel these fanatics. There is no place in America for their kind of pacifism, nor for a university or school which ignores or encourages it. It is time we applied a little rough hewn, old-fashioned, bootjack Americanism to these sentimentalists. It is the only way that we can make men out of them, to say nothing of useful citizens.

TODAY'S POEM

"WHEN THE PAPER DOESN'T COME."

My father says the paper he reads ain't put up right;
He finds a lot of fault, too, he does, perust!
It all night;
He says there ain't a single thing in it worth to read,
And that it doesn't print the kind of stuff the people need;
He tosses it aside and says it's strictly on the bum.
But you ought to hear him holler when the paper doesn't come.

He reads about the wedding and he snorts like all set out;
He reads the social doin's with a most decisive shout,
He says they make the papers for the women folks alone;
He'll read about the parties and he'll fume and fret and groan;
He says of information, it doesn't have a crumb,
But you ought to hear him holler when the paper doesn't come.

He is the first one to grab it and he reads it plumb clean through;
He doesn't miss an item, or a want ad—that is true;
He says they don't know what we want, the darn newspaper guff;
"I'm going to take a day sometime and go and put 'em wise;
"Sometimes it seems as though they must be deaf and blind and dumb."
But you ought to hear him holler when the paper doesn't come.

TINCTURE OF IODIN

Item No. 8 in The Medicine Cupboard. Lesson No. 9 in the course we're giving Tuesday and Friday or thereabouts on the home treatment of minor ailments and emergencies. If you want to save the complete set to make a guidebook to keep in your medicine cupboard and you happen to miss a lesson, try the publication office for a copy of the paper for that date. I have no copies of back numbers available for distribution.

Tincture of Iodin is spelled now without the final e, just a sort of affectation, but with a saving in time and labor in respect to many such words, as morphine, cocaine, strychnine, vitamin, etc.; even in spelling, brevity is the thing nowadays.

Pain, mol, swell, or smear every wound, cut, scratch, puncture or abrasion with it immediately; then seal or cover the injured place with an appropriate dressing—flexible collodion if it does not bleed, a piece of adhesive plaster or a pad of gauze and bandage if it oozes or bleeds. We'll see how to handle—or rather how not to handle these dressings later in the course. One immediate application of tincture of Iodin will almost invariably insure a sterile wound and prompt healing, provided you do not infect the wound afterward. A surgeon may disinfect a wound as well or better by other means, but for the layman there is nothing better at present for first aid.

One drop of tincture of Iodin may be taken in a glassful of water once a week throughout the school year by a child for the prevention of goitre. An adult may take a drop of tincture of Iodin in a glass of water every day in each third month—that is, during one month in each of the four seasons of the year—as a medicinal ration when the natural Iodin food ration fails as it does in many inland sections where the people do not get enough sea food, or where there is insufficient Iodin in the general food and water.

In some cases of acute coryza with sneezing, a very watery running at the nose, watering and itching of the eyes and frontal headache, much relief is found from inhaling the fumes of Iodin by breathing the steam from a pint of boiling water containing ten to twenty drops of tincture of Iodin, or by sniffing the fumes from the bottle held in the hand, the heat of the hand disengaging the vapor of Iodin.

Aromatic spirits of ammonia will remove Iodin stain.

When you paint tincture of Iodin on the skin as a counter-irritant over inflammatory swellings, paint one coat only and do not repeat within five days. Read the motto over The Medicine Cupboard when you take down the Iodin bottle. No advantage is gained by blistering or giving pain with Iodin.

A teaspoonful of tincture of Iodin well worked into a piece of lard the size of a walnut may be applied once only for chilblains, for which it is a valuable remedy, but if the skin is recently broken this would prove too painful.

One touching daily with equal parts of tincture of Iodin and glycerin on a bit of cotton on a toothpick is an excellent remedy for canker sores in the mouth.

In chronic sore throat and enlarged tonsils the painting of the tonsils each alternate day with a mixture of one teaspoonful of tincture of Iodin and two ounces of glycerin is beneficial.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Pharyngitis

Please tell me what pharyngitis is. (Mrs. W. S. F.)

Answer.—The pharynx is that portion of the alimentary tract between the mouth and the gullet. Inflammation of the pharynx—pharyngitis—is commonly called sore throat.

Cleaning Clothing

If a dress is sent to the cleaners, assuming gasoline is used in the cleaning process, will the dress be freed of acne germs? If not, would you advise dipping it in denatured alcohol or some antiseptic? (L. A.)

Answer.—Vermin may be destroyed by soaking the clothing half an hour in gasoline, but it is not a reliable germicide. The heat applied in pressing the dress will destroy any germs which may be present. Ironing is a pretty dependable disinfectant for any kind of clothing, linen or cloth.

SEEN, HEARD

and

IMAGINED

---that's all there is to life

Spring, spring, beautiful spring, is again but a mere memory, and Kaukauna folks were right when they named their exposition Midwinter fair. But it was during that period of wonderful spring weather that an Appleton office slave became inspired with the spring poet fever. Spider says it was "his" first offense, and we know the column readers will forgive him.

SPRING

What a wonderful thing is the beautiful spring!

The flowers peep out and the birds sink.

Man's heart grows glad, in his throat lives a song,

It seems this old world could never be wrong.

One goes to a task with a vim and a zest,

He greets every friend with a smile and a jest.

There is joy in his work and joy in his play,

He is happy and carefree the live-long day.

Every man cheerful and courteous too,

Nobody shirks at a duty to do.

Life to all men seems a glorious thing,

'Tis a wonderful life in the beautiful spring.

—Spider.

Now if that storm had come on April Fool's day, maybe we could have taken the joke.

A Letter from a Colleague.

For the much appreciated column. We get a big kick out of it.

Dear Rollo, We boys from the old home town get the column and the paper with it every day the mail man brings it—a day or two late. Our feeble efforts at skill work improve here at the "U" may not help us find our way around all the new streets back home. Will you advise the council or somebody to put up street signs? And will the streets be cleaned off enough when we come home for spring vacation so that we can get there without a sleigh? We understand that you have so much snow that there will be only two or three weeks poor sleighing all summer. Do you advise us to bring our mittens home?

Anxiously, Apple Son.

The judge says it is the duty of every man to vote, regardless of the fact that election day comes on April 1. "But when about to vote for president one sees his one to vote for?" he was asked. "Well, then, write in somebody's name for the principle's sake," said he.

Speaking about snow, there was so much of it last Saturday, that at least a half dozen candidates for the rural mail carrier's examination were detained. It is a hopeless start for a prospective mail carrier.

Meaneest Man Contest

"Smith" the political candidate's idea of the meaneest man in the world is the lazy guy who, pleading ill, calls up Smith to drive him to the polls and when he gets there votes for Smith's opponent and then has the nerve to tell Smith about it.

That is not meaneest, "Smith" that is manslaughter in the first degree.

ROLLO.

NOTED "HEALER" IS DEAD IN WISCONSIN

Prarie Du Chien, Wis.—Charles Valley, widely known "healer," or witch doctor, died at his home in this city at the age of 87 years. He was a veteran of the civil war.

Mr. Valley was no ordinary sorcerer or charmer so common among the old French and Indian families, but, effected remarkable and varied cures, even while confined on his deathbed. A small boy was suffering from infection of a badly torn lip, incurred while playing with a pet dog. Immediate relief resulted from his ministrations.

Old and young alike from miles around flocked to Mr. Valley for relief. His cures of toothaches and headaches have long been the talk of the community because of the immediate relief brought by his simple methods. He stroked or rubbed the afflicted member or part while he chanted a few mysterious words.

SAVED MANY LIVES

A large picture of Christ always hung in this good Catholic's home and he always gazed reverently at Him while he prayed before attempting to cure the patient.

Many lives have been saved by his "charming" rattlesnake bites, and stopping the flow of life blood from deep wounds. Remarkable among his cures were those of eczema patients. These he told the afflicted would heal on as far as they contracted the disease, with a noticeable change for the better with each new moon. Stubborn cases of itch have also been cured under his fingers and only a touch on the most obstinate wart caused it to disappear in a few weeks.

YELLOW DIVISION WINS KIMBERLY SAFETY CONTEST

GREATEST RACE EVER STAGED ENDS AT MILL MONDAY

One Accident Breaks Tie and Causes Greens to Lose Safety Victory

Special to Post-Crescent
Kimberly—The yellow division has been declared the winner in the great safety contest of the Kimberly-Clark company mill ending here March 31. The contest as originally planned was to last the first two months of 1924 but a tie developed and it was continued until the end of March. During that time the greens had one off time accident which broke the tie. At the end of the contest the yellows were leading by three points. Kimberly will keep on trying for the world safety record, now held by the Kimberly-Clark mill at Niagara.

Those who have put on this contest feel they have accomplished the purpose for which it was arranged. They have instilled into the mill employees the spirit of safety and have made each individual feel that he should be a champion of safety.

GREENS GIVE PROGRAM
The green division was the last to stage a program in the contest. It took place Monday noon at the Kimberly-Clark clubhouse and was the most exciting and most forceful of any in its lesson.

A fire scene was staged to show some of the dangers which are caused by fire.

The program opened with the singing of "America" by the crowd. The chairman of the greens then reviewed disastrous fires which have visited Kimberly and the Kimberly-Clark mill there. Then came the fire scene.

A small red schoolhouse was built on the stage. Miss M. VanDalywick was the teacher, and rang a bell to summon pupils to their classes. The classes assembled and sang: "The Little Red Schoolhouse." C. Poppe, acting as janitor, busy about the school cleaning. The teacher came to inform him the water was not running and the children wanted some to drink. Declaring that the pipes were frozen, the janitor began thawing them out with a blow torch. Soon teacher and pupils streamed out yelling "Fire!"

TEACH RESPIRATION
Sounding of a fire alarm brought the fire department. In the meantime a student, Raymond Schwank, found he had left his books in the building. He rushed inside to retrieve them and then found his escape cut off. He climbed to the top of the building and called for help but was suffocated by smoke before he could be rescued. A lesson in artificial respiration was given the crowd by those who "rescued" him. A fireman who was overcome also was given treatment with a lungmotor.

Chief George P. McGowan of Appleton fire department, who has charge of the Kimberly-Clark fire squad, was present and gave a speech. He explained the use of artificial respiration and then reviewed fire dangers which easily could be avoided if care would be taken. He related several interesting experiences of his own.

Although the contest ended March 31, several programs will be put on in the future to keep up the safety spirit.

MERCHANTS ASKED TO BOOST SAFETY

Traffic safety and organization of a local credit association will be up for consideration at a meeting of the retail traders division of the chamber of commerce within the next few days. Merchants will be asked to cooperate with the Safe Drivers club of Outagamie-co by using safety slogans in their advertising and by arranging window displays exemplifying careful driving and caution to avoid accidents. The club believes an educational campaign carried on in an elaborate way will help to reduce the yearly total of accidents.

Assistance will be asked of the retailers also in developing the membership of the club. Large placards have been printed and will be displayed in places of business where memberships will be received.

The credit organization proposed for Appleton will not be another trade club to be added to the already numerous array here, but will be a conference plan which will make the present retail division of the chamber more efficient along that particular line of work.

How Many Times Did You Bite On April Fool "Joke" Today

How many times did you slip today? Or didn't you even realize that it is the first of April? That is hardly possible, for with election coming on April the April Fool punsters have been busy spreading their chatter for several weeks.

But a lot of other folks besides political candidates are bound to be fooled today.

ed today. On the one hand, there are the voters, or supporters of the defeated candidates and a number of other honest folk who may have a weakness of placing too much trust in what they are told.

April Fool's day is, like Halloween, principally a child's holiday. Children seem to play the greatest number of tricks and also constitute the great group of the duped. The reason for this is that a child is the most impressionable of humans, whether for good or for evil. Sentiment is unadorned in this that to tempt a boy with a stick of candy "doctored" especially for the occasion is the meanest of April Fool tricks.

Humor is a brutal thing, some one has said, for there is no joke so innocent that does not ridicule some person or outrage some one's sensibility. No one cares to be the butt of a joke, but who can resist the humor of seeing some one else "getting the worst of it?"

Not all will agree with the foregoing assertion, for there is humor that consists of puns, or funny dialect, and the height of exaggeration which can harm no one. But it is practical joking that thrives on All Fools day.

Everybody loves the man who can take a joke with good grace. He should make an ideal political candidate. The man who can not is the "butt" of all April Fool jokes. Never-

TIREMEN DISAGREE ON BALLOON TIRES

Possibility That Manufacturers Will Get Together on Sizes and Types

Balloon tires generally are conceded superior to the regular high-pressure type, yet there is so much doubt and disagreement among tire manufacturers over sizes and types that most auto makers are waiting for the cloud to clear away before they will adopt the balloon tire as regular equipment.

At present there are two types of balloon tires—the full balloon and the semi-balloon or balloon-type tires. The full balloon tire is the one having much larger cross-sectional area than the regular type and using almost twice as much air at about half the pressure. It is highly flexible, due to the fact that its side walls are four-fifths instead of six or eight-ply.

The semi-balloon tire is practically an oversized cord, with less plies in its sidewall fabric construction and with less pressure.

Due to the much larger size of the balloon, the wheel must be smaller, so that the overall diameter of the wheel and balloon tire is the same as that of the regular wheel and high-pressure tire.

DIFFERENCES

Use of the semi-balloon tire on the regular-sized wheel, however, increases the overall diameter.

Some tire makers contend this wheel diameter is not changed, because the weight of the auto flattens the soft tire down to the regular diameter. The contention is also made that, despite this difference in diameter, the gear ratio is not changed appreciably and the tires do not interfere with fenders, brakes or frames.

That, however, is open to dispute among the tire makers themselves. But it isn't their major cause of difference. The chief contention lies in the size best suited for general use.

Two manufacturers, for instance, advise a 31 by 5.25 balloon tire to replace a 31 or 32 by 4 high-pressure casing. But when it comes to theirs, one does not see very many men planning "Kick Me" signs on their own coat tails. And those who are kicked seldom laugh themselves to death.

Speaking of kicks, a few grown up "kids" are of the opinion that something seems to have occurred to take the "kick" out of the old-fashioned April Fools day. But there are a few others who are thankful that "them days" have passed and entered the "kame duck" class along with Hallowe'en and the old-fashioned Fourth of July. They are the police. Firemen also are less bothered with false alarms than in bygone days.

It is quite reasonable to assume that three-fourths of all April Fool pranks are played before breakfast, for each mischievous boy or girl seems to be eager for the earliest opportunity of victimizing some one else. That victim often proves to be a father.

Opportunities for practical joking never appear to be lacking, and the child with an inventive mind finds many pranks besides passing out pepper or cotton filled candy, loaded cigars, dropping empty purses or packages filled with bricks, and sending simple folk on fools' errands after the larger tires, one offers only an inch larger size with the same diameter of casing, while the other has balloon casings ranging in diameter up to 73 inches to replace a 5-inch high-pressure casing.

ANOTHER TYPE

Now the tire manufacturers plan to widen this difference even further. Some are contemplating a compromise between the full balloon tire and the semi-balloon. It is an effort to meet certain objections made by the auto makers, and at the same time approach the full balloon tires as closely as possible.

The result is auto makers are

Some people are as safe on April Fools' day as on any other day, for they are being fooled nearly all the time. ## CALL OFF INSTITUTE FOR TEACHERS AT NEW LONDON

Because of a very small attendance the teachers institute that was scheduled for last Saturday at New London, was called off. The severe snow storm made it impossible for teachers from rural districts to come to the city. It is doubtful whether a teacher's conference will be held there this spring. It cannot be held next Saturday, because many of the teachers will then be absent on their vacations. A general teachers conference for the entire county will be held in Appleton on April 12.

wary of adopting the balloon tire. Some 16 or 18 have done so with regard to one make of tire. But even they leave it to the auto owner to decide whether he wants balloon or high-pressure tire equipment.

Tire makers suggest they may get together eventually and standardize their balloon tire types and sizes just as they did their high-pressure tires soon after the war. At present, however, they are working individually and apparently against one another.

TOURISTS SPENT 100 MILLIONS IN STATE LAST YEAR

Land o' Lakes Association Hopes to Increase Number of Visitors in 1924

Most encouraging reports are reaching the headquarters of Wisconsin, the Land o' Lakes, Inc., on the progress of the statewide campaign to secure funds which will be used for advertising Wisconsin over the length and breadth of the United States. County after county is reporting that its quota has been raised and quite a number have exceeded the amounts they agreed to raise.

Approximately $50,000 will be required to carry on the work of the association this year. Outagamie-co's portion of this is $2,600 and preparations are about completed for raising this money. Every citizen of the county will benefit either directly or indirectly from the increased business which will result from the advertising and the committees in charge of raising this county's quota are expecting the money will be raised in a few days after the campaign starts.

Interesting figures bearing on the tourist business of Wisconsin has been compiled from various sources and all of them indicate that the summer visitor is one of the biggest spenders in history. Last year it is estimated that $100,000,000 was spent in Wisconsin by the 2,500,000 tourists who visited in the state. The number of visitors was almost as large as the total population of the state. It is quite evident, according to leaders in the Land o' Lakes campaign that if $100,000,000 is spent in Wisconsin in a single year everyone will get part of it.

APPLETON BENEFITED

Appleton, because of its fortunate situation at the gateway to the tourist's paradise, is one of the greatest beneficiaries of the advertising campaign which brings visitors into the state. It is difficult to estimate how much money was spent in this city by tourists last year but it probably will run close to $55,000. In addition, many more thousands were spent in the smaller cities and villages of the county, so that every community benefited from the huge business brought here by tourists.

Membership in Wisconsin, the Land o' Lakes, is open to everyone. It is obvious of course that if everyone buys the $1 membership it will not be possible to raise the county's quota of $2,600 and an effort is being made to secure larger membership fees from those who can afford to pay more and from those who are receiving the largest direct benefits from the business which advertising brings to the state.

The advertising is not confined to the land of lakes region, but describes

Workings of the Esch-Cummins Law

As Viewed by Our Patrons

IN a recent speech made by Mr. P. R. Wigton, Commissioner of the Traffic Bureau, Chamber of Commerce, Watertown, South Dakota, before the Rotary Club of Watertown, he said, among other things, as follows:

"Under the operation of that law (Esch-Cummins) we have seen a great recovery and improvement in railroad transportation. In the matter of service the railroads are rendering a performance heretofore unequalled, although the only fair test of this law has been during the year 1923.

"During the past year the railroads have handled the greatest volume of tonnage in their history, and that in an expeditious and satisfactory manner.

"There was practically no shortage of cars or equipment evident during the past heavy shipping season, a condition which has not existed since the war; there was no general embargo at terminals due to congestion and inability to move freight; and there were no serious delays to shipments due to lack of proper functioning of the transportation machines, all of which means dollars in the pockets of shippers.

"For these reasons I place adequate transportation ahead of cost of transportation.

"To have our freight rates and passenger fares cut in half would help us little if the service were to be likewise curtailed and made uncertain and unreliable. Ideal transportation is adequate transportation at the lowest possible cost.

"Everyone is more or less familiar with the condition of the railroads when turned back to their owners after Federal Control. They were depleted in finances, undermined morally and their operating equipment reduced to a point of famine.

"Tonnage offered the railroads for transportation has increased so rapidly that constant additions to equipment are necessary to meet the growing demand.

"Very little equipment was added during the 26 months of Federal Control and the existing equipment was permitted to deteriorate.

"Drastic action was necessary to recover from this condition and such action was accomplished by purchasing and putting into service over 4,200 locomotives and over 290,000 new freight cars during the year 1923.

"That is the principal reason why we did not suffer from car shortage during the past year."

This statement by Mr. Wigton pertaining to the Transportation Act (commonly known as the Esch-Cummins Law) is so interesting that we are giving our patrons an opportunity to read it.

TELEPHONE CONVERSATION BETWEEN RUTH ELLINGTON AND LESLIE PRESCOTT

"Is that you, Leslie? Are you alone? It is impossible for me to come over this morning and I want to tell you exactly what has happened with your man."

"Are you sure, Ruth, no one will hear what you are saying to me?" Absolutely. Everybody is out in the front fixing up the shop, and I have come back to my own little room and closed the door."

"About nine o'clock this morning I went out, looked around as if I were observing the weather, blew my nose and presumably accidentally dropped my handkerchief. I don't mind telling you that my heart was beating pretty fast. Leslie, but I didn't see a soul anywhere in the block. I walked back into the office. I had hardly gotten there when a man came to the door and said he wanted to see me."

"What kind of a looking man was he, Ruth?"

"You wouldn't have recognized him. He was none of the waiters that I had ever seen in the restaurant. It seems that he had his wife and baby and was on duty at the restaurant for the first time, for he had been ill for quite awhile. This is the story he tells and Leslie I believe him; he looks terrible. When he was picking up the pearls the temptation was too great and even though John said they were just beads there was something about them that was different, and he dropped one into his pocket."

"Two days afterward Jack was in the restaurant lunching with a man friend the friend asked him about a letter from her mother—An invitation to New York."

one such gem was a terrible loss. "Jack spoke up and said, 'Not for a moment did you think they were real, did you, old man? They were given to my wife by her little sister as a wedding present.'"

"Well, if they are not real, John," said his friend, "they are the best imitation I ever saw."

"The man who came to see me this morning told me that this conversation gave him an idea. He took the pearl to one of the big jewelers and they told him it was worth anything between three and five thousand dollars, depending upon how badly the purchaser wanted it."

"Two or three days afterwards," said the man, "I was again at the table where Mr. Prescott's friend was dining with another man and the subject of the beads was brought up. Mr. Prescott's friend told the story he had heard from Mr. Prescott and then said that the string of pearls he had seen and which the other man had been so long collecting had been gotten together by Karl Whittier. The friend to whom he was talking said, 'Oh, do you know Karl Whittier?' He was a great friend of Mrs. Prescott before they were married."

"Then, of course, the waiter thought he knew the whole story. He jumped at the conclusion that Karl had given you the pearls and between you, you had cooked up the story for Jack. He determined then, instead of getting three thousand, to get ten thousand out of you."

"After he had told his story, Leslie, I saw that we would have to change our plans."

Adventures Of The Twins

A BARNYARD RIDDLE

"Here comes the Riddle Lady," cried Humpty Dumpty. "Make way everybody." Nancy and Nick waved their handkerchiefs and Little Boy Blue blew his horn in greeting. "How do you do, everybody," called the Riddle Lady cheerily as she stepped out of her coach. "As the riddle is long I'll begin at once so you will have more time to guess. Boy Blue, I have an idea that you may get the prize. Now think hard!" And she began:

"I live far away from the city.
The country's the place for me.
So please do think it's a pity.
For I'm as happy as happy can be.
(I laugh and I laugh at the cute little pigs,
And their wee funny tails like whirligigs.)"

"I'm really a very hard worker,
Though I may seem lazy to you,
But I'm not a bit of a shirker.
There's so very much work to do
(I chuckle and laugh when the ducks go 'quack',
And winkle their tails so funny in track.)"

"My shoulders are broad and lusty,
I carry just tons of hay,
And to show you that I am trusty,
I have bushels of oats stored away.
(Did you ever see a brand new little cart?
They're the funniest things, they would make you laugh!)"

"My hay-mows are roomy and quiet,
So the hens come to me to lay eggs.
But the silleos do make such a riot
The minute they get on their legs!
(But the chicks! Oh, la, they're like powder puffs!
They would simply be perfect for fairy muffs!)"

"In winter the horses and cattle

Stand patiently still in my stalls,
While outside the winds roar and rattle,
And the stinging snow drifts as it falls.
(And I do feel like patting the huddling sheep, Dear things they are dreaming of spring in their sleep!)"

"Why, I wouldn't live in the city,
With its hubbub and houses and cars,
For the country is ten times as pretty.
And you've room to look up at the stars.
(Oh, Mrs. Sheep's funny, so is cross Mr. Ram,
But the cutest of all is a new little lamb.)"

"It's a barn," cried Little Boy Blue. "I know for my haystack is right beside one."
"Blat!" declared the Riddle Lady. "Nick, get him his prize. It's a horn."

LITTLE DANGER OF FLOOD THIS YEAR

Water in Lake Winnebago at Lower Level Than for Ten Years

Spring flood danger to property along the Fox and Wolf rivers from spring freshets has been reduced to a minimum this year.

Through fulfillment of an agreement between riparian owners and users of waterpower, the stage of Lake Winnebago has been reduced to point lower than at any time in 10 years and would only once or twice in the last 20 years.

The Randall gauge at Oshkosh showed a reading of 49.82, which is 17 1/2 inches below the crest of the government dam at Menasha. A year ago it was 48.35. The lowest point reached last year was April 2, when it was 17 1/2 inches below the crest. The lowest point so far this year was Mar. 22, when it got down to 18 1/2 inches.

By having the water at a low stage at this time of the year, it is expected there will be every opportunity for the floods which are sure to come in April to pass by quickly. Also it is possible for the engineers in charge to bring the water up several inches by merely ordering lock tenders to close sluice gates, which up to this time have been open.

GARBAGE DISPOSAL AGAIN IS AGITATED

Rendering Plant Can Provide Demonstration of How Equipment Works

Appleton's need of garbage disposal facilities has bobbed up again with the visit here of William Laabs of Milwaukee, a brother of August W. Laabs, former alderman of the Third ward.

Mr. Laabs represented the Badger Reduction Machinery company of Milwaukee, and declares that the city is in position to see first-hand how a disposal plant works, without the necessity of going to some other city to do so.

Wisconsin Rendering company has installed new machinery which handles its garbage without odor, and a plant city might buy would be of the same kind, Mr. Laabs says. He believes it possible to arrange a demonstration for Appleton officials and others at the rendering plant as a means of determining whether such equipment would solve the problem.

It is said that an adequate plant for Appleton would cost about $40,000.

MASONS WILL HEAR SHRINE CONCERT

Appleton Masonic members are invited to tune in on a concert which will be broadcast from Milwaukee on Thursday evening, April 24, by Tripoli temple of the Masonic shrine of that city. The program will be sent out from station WIAO, Milwaukee School of Engineering, at 813. The wave length is 360 meters.

The chief musical feature will be a concert by a famous Tripoli Temple band of which E. W. Brunkhorst is conductor. A galaxy of artists also will present solos, according to announcements received here.

This musical program is to be presented at the auditorium at Milwaukee as a means of raising funds to send the Tripoli Temple band to the golden jubilee of the Masonic shrine at Kansas City June 3, 4 and 5, and to purchase a camel for the Washington park Zoo at Milwaukee.

FORMER KAUKAUNA MAN MERGES KENOSHA BANKS

E. T. O'Brien, former editor of Kaukauna Sun, who became cashier of the United States National Bank of Kenosha upon leaving Kaukauna several years ago, has just succeeded in merging the Merchants and Savings bank of that city with his institution.

In order to bring about the merger of the two banks, O'Brien and several business men purchased all the stock of the Merchants and Savings bank held by the estate of the late Henry B. Robinson.

Directors of the banks are expected to give their sanction to the combination in a few days, and a new bank with resources of three and one-half million dollars will be the result.

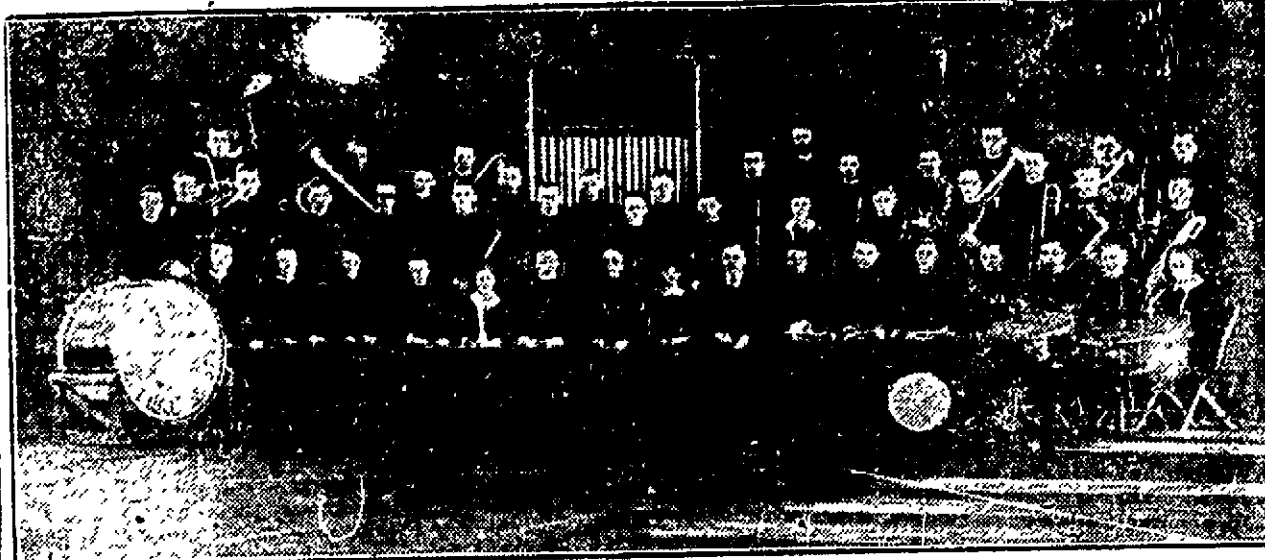

Mr. O'Brien was a former president of Appleton and during the days of the old Third ward high school was its assistant principal.

Smelly Skunk Cabbage Is First Flower To Burst Into Bloom, Botanist Says

Prof. W. E. Rogers of Lawrence College Describes Early Blooming Plants of Wisconsin.

The race for honor of being the earliest wild flower is an event which occurs every spring in spite of the fact that the winner always is the same, and is in fact, picked before Nature gives the starting signal, according to Professor Walter E. Rogers, of the department of botany of Lawrence college.

Over Wisconsin, and over other states as far west as Minnesota and Iowa the first wildflower is the Skunk Cabbage, a plant not so much known for its floral features as for its odor, Prof. Rogers says. In stating the name of the first spring flower.

"This despised relative of the aristocratic Calla Lili is a bold adventurer," says the botanist. "It pushes its heavy dark red bodkin through the soil before the snow has had a chance to retreat from shady banks and sheltered places. Often its advent is so early that ice clings to it."

HEPATICA IS NEXT
Many persons refused to recognize this flower and give the honor of leading the season's grand march to the Hepatica, "the fairest flower of the spring," according to Prof. Rogers. In time of appearance, he adds, it is always a close second to its odorous rival.

In late February or early March, Hepatica flowers may be found fully formed and wrapped in fuzzy blankets awaiting only a warm glance from the sun to display their beauty to the world, the scientist pointed out. Spring is ushered in by "that dainty gem of nature"—Trailing arbutus, found in the north country of Wisconsin.

No early spring tramp through the woods would be complete without a sight of the Wildflower (Wood Anemone) or its most delicate cousin, the Rue Anemone. Prof. Rogers adds. Both, he states, have white flowers, those of the first being single, larger and often delicately tinted with blue. The other bears its flowers in clusters and those frequently are suffused with pink.

BLOODROOT IS EARLY
Another favorite of the woodlands is the Bloodroot, described by the botanist as wax-like and whose fragile stalks precedes the leaf in growth and on it an exquisite and miniature imitation of the Poppy" one day expands in the warm sunshine only to disappear the next on a warm gust of wind.

A hoos companion of the Bloodroot is the Adder's tongue, according to Prof. Rogers, who says two kinds of this species are common. One has a yellow flower; the other has a blossom which is white, tinged with purplish on the outside. Other common names applied to these plants are the Fawn Lily, Trout Lily, and Dog's Tooth Violet.

"The mottling of the leaves is responsible for the first of the two names," says Prof. Rogers. "They are appropriate, but the third name is a gross absurdity. The fact that the plant is a lily is quite evident and no stretch of the imagination can justify the name 'violet'."

NAME DOESN'T FIT
For inappropriateness of name, nothing can equal "Dutchman's Breeches," the botanist adds, since "no more refined and delicate plant grows in our woods. Not only are the blossoms refined and delicate and exclusively fashioned but the leaves re-dissected into a veritable lacework, the whole makeup of the unusual plant repudiates its coarse and masculine name."

Appearing simultaneously with the Bloodroot and the Adder's Tongue, is the Spring Beauty from which the seeker of wild flowers learns "the futility of picking wild flowers." Left in its native haunts, the flower is "one of rare charm" but after being picked it becomes limp and the blossoms "indignantly" close, thus making the name Spring Beauty appear a misnomer.

Of several Trilliums native to Wisconsin, only one, in the opinion of the scientist, deserves the common name Wake Robin. This is the small white-flowered dwarf (Snow Trillium) which appears early enough to "wake the early birds into song." The species is governed by the rule of three, there being three leaves on the stem, and all the flower parts are in threes except the stems which are three in number.

SPRATCH LANDSCAPE
Following the Skunk Cabbage in the low grounds, comes the Marsh Marigold with many waxy flowers as large as ten dollar gold pieces, to use the language of Prof. Rogers. "Growing in mass, these flowers, more buttercups than marigolds, splotch the landscape with a color which is not equalled during the remainder of the season, for the natural brilliance of the blossoms is intensified by the background of glossy green leaves which already are well expanded," the botanist states.

The violet also is a favorite in Wisconsin, growing in profusion and often coloring whole hillsides in a field of blue.

Prof. Rogers comments on the inconspicuousness of early spring flowering plants at midsummer. If one burrows underground one can find evidences of their existence, however, he says, in the storehouse of food which such plants have filled in late spring and early summer, enabling them to burst into bloom at the very opening of the following season and to mature seeds before the expanding of other vegetation cuts them off from light supply.

U. W. Play Is Clever Satire On Our Manners

A fantastic dream of a kingdom beyond the stars will be presented at the Appleton theater on April 8 when the Haresfoot club of the University of Wisconsin appears in the musical comedy "Twinkle Twinkle."

The plot of the play deals with the adventures of two young American chaps who wander from their earthly habitat, and following the path outlined by a stray moon beam, discover themselves suddenly on Sextantus, a planet far removed from the earth. They find much to excite and amuse them in their new surroundings, and in the by-play and dialogue of the piece the author, J. Faxon Hall, a senior in the Badger University, takes advantage of many opportunities to satirize the manners of earth bound creatures in a clever manner.

The two rovers find things so much to their liking in Sextantus that they renounce all claim to the prosaic things of earth, and decide to spend the rest of their days in the starry land of their dreams.

Running through the entire piece is an appealing love story, or rather two of them, and a veritable barrage of humor and patter that brings the atmosphere of the campus to the theater. The play is filled with catchy musical and cleverly written songs. All of the parts in the cast and chorus are taken by men.

Place On Honor Team
In State Caging MeetFond du Lac and Superior Each
Represented on All-State
Quintet with Two, LaCrosse,
Orange with One Man.

First reports reaching here from Madison gave all the places on the all state basketball team chosen from those which played in the state tournament to Fond du Lac and Superior or players. Owing to the fact that wires were down all over the state after the sleet storms of Friday and Saturday, it was impossible to get reports directly from Madison. However, since the return of the Appleton delegation from the capital, it has been learned that the choice of members of the University of Wisconsin basketball team who picked the all-tournament teams was as follows:

First Team
Forward—Miller, LaCrosse.
Forward—Dorf, Superior.
Center—Dow, Fond du Lac.
Guard—Wagner, Fond du Lac.
Guard—Courtney, Appleton.

Second Team
Forward—Adams, Fond du Lac.
Forward—Folsam, Janesville.
Center—Gerneau, Superior.
Guard—Johnson, Fond du Lac.
Guard—Dobbes, Superior.

The champions are represented with two men on each team. Superior with one on the first and two on the second, LaCrosse and Appleton with one each on the first and Janesville with one on the second. According to press reports and the stories of witnesses of the tournament games, Courtney was the individual star of the tournament.

BIG BANQUET IS HELD
Prizes and medals were awarded Saturday night at a banquet, and the names of choices for the all-tournament teams were announced by Walter Meanwell, Badger coach. Coach Meanwell does not believe in attempting to choose a best sportsmanship team, and therefore the trophy usually given for that purpose was not awarded. According to Meanwell, it would have been next to impossible to pick a team above all the rest in sportsmanship because they all excelled in that quality.

Fond du Lac was awarded the Milwaukee Journal traveling trophy for first place, the gold basketball which is to be its permanent possession, and for individual players. Superior was given a cup for second place and individual gold basketballs, while Wausau received the consolation cup.

After the award of trophies and the banquet had been held, Badger athletic chiefs and officials, as well as coaches of the various high school teams delivered short speeches.

BASEBALL MEETING
CALLED FOR FRIDAYFans Invited to Attend Conclave
in Elks Clubhouse to Start Action

Appleton decided several weeks ago to keep its franchise in the State Baseball league, but since that time has failed to do anything to start the ball rolling. Businessmen interested in the national game here have been called upon to assemble several times, but have been too busy to respond. Another invitation is issued by David Smith acting for Walter Miller. All who are interested in maintaining an Appleton club in the Wisconsin State league are called upon to assemble in the Elks clubhouse here at 7:30 P. M. Friday, to discuss ways and means of putting the team on a sound financial basis.

At the last informal meeting, the meguls decided to double the stock of the Appleton association, which would bring it up to $4,000. Season tickets were to be sold in advance to raise this amount, but nothing has been done up to the present. Meanwhile the little time remaining until the season opens is flying fast, and a host of matters remain to be settled. Unless definite action is taken within a week or ten days, it will be too late to get in, and Appleton probably will be in the same boat as Green Bay.

MR. T. COBB

Augusta, Ga. — Ty Cobb says this will be his last year as a player and the pitchers hope so. Cobb was a star when Niagara was a mill pond, but he's still harder to fool than a widow with a purpose.

Ty was one of the first ball players to experiment with the hazardous science of thinking. Before his time the average athlete imagined he was getting full power out of his bean when he used it for a dandruff ranch.

Cobb used to startle the buyers by dashing from first to third on an infield fumble. When he wasn't doing this he was going all the way home. He was harder to figure than a cross-eyed woman driver in traffic.

Old-timers used to call Cobb lucky stiff. Said if he ever fell into a manhole he'd land next to a wine barrel. Experts wrote pieces for the papers saying he was mere flash in the skillet.

All of 'em were as right as usual. Cobb was lucky like Edison, Morgan, Chaplin and Miss Joyce. The young man simply has a swell line of groceries and he was always prompt with deliveries.

Cobb has lasted longer than a double-decker toothbrush in a North Carolina hermit's shack. Genius is a sturdy bird. It takes more than a light tap on the Van Dyke to send real talent kicking.

Baseball has never known more daring or more colorful baserunner. Cobb leaped from base to base on his own juice; he could get more miles in a hit of spiked foot oil than any body that ever played the game.

They tell you Cobb stealing is an art. With the Peach it was a habit, like walking in an upright position and using soap on back of the neck.

Smart crackers used to say: Jennings had a great ball club in Cobb. They could have gone four furlongs farther and said Han Johnson had a great league in him.

It will be a long time before the game develops a second Cobb, and then it will be that a second Cobb. You've seen the first and only.

TERRY WILL BE WORTHY
UNDERSTUDY FOR KELLY

George Kelly, the elongated first baseman of the New York Giants, will have a worthy understudy this year in the person of Terry of Toledo. This fellow Terry is hitting them so hard in spring training that Kelly is already worried.

Bridgeport, Conn. — Jack Delaney of Bridgeport, recent conqueror of Paul Berlenbach, scored a technical knockout over Leo Leonard of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., in the third round of a scheduled ten-round bout.

STRIBLING WINS
EVERY ROUND OF
TILT WITH CHAMPGeorgia Schoolboy Floors Mc-
Tigue in Tenth But Fails to Follow

Newark, N. J. — Young Stribling, 19-year-old Macon, Ga., schoolboy, would be lightweight champion of the world today, if the laws of New Jersey permitted decisions.

Before a crowd of 15,000 persons in the first regiment armory, Monday night he outpointed Mike McTigue, the title holder, in every one of 12 fast rounds. While 30,000 additional fight followers were turned from the gates by squads of police, Stribling systematically counted off one round after another in his favor.

There was more spirit outside the ring than in it, as the fans expressed their joy or sorrow by breaking chairs across each others heads. It took 20 policemen to subdue the display of feeling which followed the final bell.

In the tenth round, the young southerner floored McTigue with a vicious right but failed to follow up his advantage. The champion was badly beaten and bears the marks to prove it, but Stribling lacked the final punch to clinch his victory. McTigue still carries the title.

"MA" AND "PA" SATISFIED

"Ma" and "Pa" Stribling whose pugilistic theories were justified by their son's moral victory, bore with good grace their disappointment at not having a title in the family. They expressed satisfaction that their boy gave such good proof that the decision in his bout with McTigue in Columbus, Ga., last October, which both fighters claimed, belonged to him.

In the semifinal, Paul Berlenbach, New York middleweight, started on his return to fame by knocking out Harry Krohn of Akron, O., in the fourth round of a ten round match. Before his last previous fight in which he was knocked out in the fourth round by Jack Delaney, he had run up a string of 23 consecutive knock-outs in his favor.

LEGION WANTS TITLE BOUT

Columbus, Ga. — Convinced that "Young" Stribling, the Georgia schoolboy fighter, can demonstrate even more conclusively than he did Monday night at Newark, N. J., that he is entitled to the lightweight championship crown, Columbus now is bidding for a setback bout to a decision between Stribling and Mike McTigue, the titleholder. An offer of $15,000 was made Monday night to McTigue's by Major John Paul Jones, American Legion promoter, for a 15-round championship match between the two on July 4, or any other time. A reply is expected Tuesday. Nothing has been heard from Stribling regarding the proposal but his acceptance is regarded as a foregone conclusion. Major Jones' only stipulation was that the referee be selected by the New York Boxing commission.

EAST FIGHTS WEST
IN NATIONAL MEET

By Associated Press
Chicago — Twenty of the forty teams entered in the national intercollegiate basketball championship tournament of the University of Chicago met Tuesday in the first round tilts, with the remainder of the entries scheduled to clash Wednesday.

East meets west in the initial contest when Manchester, N. H., vies with Boise, Idaho. Two teams that competed last year, Simpson high of Birmingham, Ala., and Wallawalla, Wash., are included in Tuesday's first round tilts, and six other teams who played in 1923 will meet opponents Wednesday. Kansas City, Kan., last year's champion, is not entered.

Tuesday's first round pairings include: Superior, Wis., vs. Madison, S. D.

Wednesday's first round pairings include: Fargo, N. D., vs. Lexington, Ky.; Jackson, Mich., vs. Two Harbors, Minn.

Tauketa, S. D., vs. Chattanooga, Tenn., and Charleston, S. C., vs. Hibbing, Minn.

Tailend Team
Is Tough Job
For Manager

Leesburg, Fla. — This year, Art Fletcher, who manages the eighth-place Phillies, won't have it so hard. Last year he had to suffer all the terrors of watching the Phillies play day after day, without any assistance. This year, however, he will have some help. Benny Meyer, the old Brooklyn outfielder, will carry some of the grief. Meyer will be stationed at first base and Fletcher at third. Thus the suffering will be equally distributed.

Officially, Meyer will be known as captain of the team, the only non-playing captain in captivity, by the way.

Beats Champ

William Lawrence Stribling, schoolboy boxer of Macon, Ga., Monday night outpointed Mike McTigue in every stanza of their 12-round battle in Newark, N. J. Stribling floored McTigue in the tenth but failed to follow up his advantage. The championship remains with McTigue.

ROUTINE PITCHER
MAKES WORK EASY
FOR GOOD HITTERHarry Heimann Tells How He Piled up .400 Average
Last Season

Augusta, Ga. — Harry Heimann was the only regular in the major leagues to hit .400 or better last season. The Tigers' star swatter led the American league. It was his second league-leading accomplishment. Two years ago he also outstepped his field.

Like all great hitters, Heimann studies the opposition pitching carefully. His comments on the subject are interesting, likewise illuminating. "Some of the pitchers make hitting easy for you," testifies Heimann. "This applies especially to the mechanical type of pitcher who has a never-changing routine way of working. He will feed you a couple of fast balls, a hook and then perhaps a slow one."

"Mixing 'em up is all right. A change of pace is particularly effective. And pitchers who work like this usually get results. But here is where the mechanical type of pitcher makes his mistake. Always it is the same with him. A couple of fast ones, a hook and then the slow one."

"It is like turning so many pages in an old book. You know exactly what to expect and when to expect it. Naturally it is not hard to make a hit off this type of pitcher."

"And the pitcher isn't wholly to blame. The catcher in most instances is just as mechanical as he is. The catcher has a stock set of signals and uses them without variations."

"Of course there is no law in baseball that prohibits a pitcher from saying 'no' to his catcher, but few of them do it these days. They throw whatever the catcher calls for and let it go at that."

"I haven't been in baseball all my life, yet I can remember when pitchers frequently shook their heads to the catcher's signals. How often do you see that done in a game today? Once in a while series is a high average."

STATE COMMISSION
GUMS LOCAL FIGHT

Stribling is ready to meet "Gunner" Joe Quinn here on April 11 at the terms agreed upon between "Pa" and Elmer Johnston, Appleton fight promoter, but it is still doubtful whether the fight can be staged here.

According to Johnston, the State Boxing commission is inclined to balk at the raising of the price of admission to more than $3 for any fight held here, and unless ringside seats can be raised to at least $5 for the Stribling-Quinn battle, the card cannot be put on. Johnston has wired the commission in an effort to straighten out the matter and expects to know definitely where he stands before Tuesday night.

Badgers Plan Relay
Carnival For High
Schools Of MidwestMeet Will Be First of Its Kind Ever Held in This Section of Country; Follows Eastern School System.

Madison — Plans for the first annual interscholastic relay carnival to be held at Camp Randall under the auspices of the University of Wisconsin on Saturday, May 3, are being rapidly completed.

The big relay meet, which will bring the high school track athletes of the middle western state together in competition, will be the first meet of its kind ever held in this part of the country. It will fill the place in the high school track schedules that the Drake, Kansas, Ohio, and Pennsylvania relays do for college track schedule. It comes before the state interscholastic meets.

Northwestern holds its annual national indoor interscholastic basketball and swimming meet. Chicago holds a national interscholastic basketball tournament, and a national outdoor track meet, but it remained for the University of Wisconsin to establish and conduct an interscholastic relay.

FILLS GREAT NEED

This meet is designed to fill the need of middle west high schools for relay meet of their own. Heretofore they have been limited to a few high school events in the big college relays, and relay competition is probably the most interesting and valuable both to the athletes and the spectators of any track events. The Wisconsin interscholastic relay carnival, open to all high schools in the middle west, will be governed by the rules of the National Collegiate Athletic association. The competing schools must be members of their association and the entries must be certified by a member of their state board.

Inquiries following the first announcement of the meet two weeks ago, indicate that a number of the leading high schools of Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Michigan, Missouri, Minnesota, and Wisconsin will be entered in the first meet here on May 3.

DOROTHY GANZEN
ROLLS 614 SCOREA. Jimos Drops Two Out of Three Games in Match with Champ Woman Bowler

Dorothy Ganzen Sunday night took two out of three games from A. Jimos in a match rolled on the Eagle alleys here, and smashed a total of 614 pins in her three games. Miss Ganzen rolled 247 in her second game, thereby beating her own high score of 246 which she rolled earlier in the season, by one point. Furthermore, her total of 614 is the highest three-game score rolled by a woman on an Appleton alley. Some time ago Miss Ganzen topped 321 pins in four games.

The Sunday match started without much excitement, and Miss Ganzen took the first game, 155 to 120. In the second game she climbed to 247, while Jimos crashed through the sticks for 173. In the third, Miss Ganzen dropped back to 212, while Jimos spurred and made it 231.

Alex Elmslie
Must Give Up
Billiard Title

Chicago — The executive committee of the National Association of Amateur Billiard Players has declared Alex Elmslie of Milwaukee ineligible and has taken the western amateur class A 18.2 ballline championship away from him. Elmslie won the title a short time ago in a tournament held in this city. Robert M. Campbell, who finished second, has been awarded the title.

Elmslie was a member of the National association prior to 1918 at which time he engaged in the billiard business in Milwaukee. This business was continued for about two years, when Elmslie returned to his former employment with the Santa Fe railroad.

While engaged in the billiard business Elmslie became ineligible to compete in amateur contests and under the rules of the association would be barred from tournament play until he applied for and was granted reinstatement. Elmslie did not make application for reinstatement until after the recent tournament was finished. His application will receive favorable consideration by the committee.

WANT MORE BOYS AS MEMBERS OF "Y"

Campaign to Enroll Youths in Local Institution Starts Thursday

A spring membership drive will be staged by the boys of the Y. M. C. A. opening Thursday, April 3, and closing Saturday, April 5. The campaign will be conducted entirely by the boys with Leonard Hendrickson as campaign manager.

It will take the form of an auto race, similar to that used in the annual drive last fall. Seven cars will be entered.

In addition to the "feed" there will be a gold fountain, pen and pencil prizes to the boys receiving the largest number of memberships and a sweater to boys securing ten memberships or more.

Summer and annual memberships will be solicited and every effort made to increase the number of boys holding the Y. M. C. A. memberships. As there has been an 85 per cent assimilation of memberships this season, it is the desire of the board and the staff to get more boys to take advantage of the opportunities which the association is offering.

The summer membership rates which ordinarily go in effect May are being offered now. They are $3 for boys 11 to 14, and $4 for boys 15 to 18.

A special annual rate to church groups is in effect also which brings a Sunday school class or a scout troop into full membership at the $3 rate for younger boys and $4 rate for older boys.

YOU CAN'T BE TOO LAVISH IN WIRING NEW HOME OF YOURS

Younger Advises Home Builders Class to Provide for Electrical Appliances

A great deal of information about electric lights and electrical appliances was given the home builders' class at the Y. M. C. A. by H. O. Younger on Monday evening. Mr. Younger had a wide experience with electrical devices and gave the class the benefit of this information.

It is Mr. Younger's opinion that no new home should be built without wiring for an electric range. Although he estimates that not more than 100 electric ranges are in operation in Appleton at the present time, he said that was confident that more and more people would use them and that the new houses should be equipped for them, especially if there is a possibility of the house being sold to someone else.

INSTALL RECEPTACLES

The women in the class who know the great need for receptacles for extra lamps, vacuum sweepers, heaters, electric irons, toasters, percolators, agreed with Mr. Younger as he showed where additional receptacles should be placed. He would use the receptacle in every room in the house on the ground that when a new house is being built the cost of materials for additional conveniences is small in comparison with the added labor cost if they are to be installed later.

For an hour and a half the speaker talked lights and appliances and gave the class many pointers on what to do and what not to do in planning the electric equipment of the home. He electric equipment, lights, shades and switches to illustrate his points.

"The electric equipment is the last to be put in the house," said Mr. Younger. "Too often people put cheap fixtures in beautiful homes and ruin the effect. How many homes do you go to where the porch light gives an entirely wrong impression of the house? If you must cut down on lighting fixtures, do not begin on the porch."

3 PER CENT FOR WIRING

That 3 per cent of the total cost of the home should be spent for the electrical work is the estimate which Mr. Younger gave as a conservative figure. He would advise equipping the house thoroughly. The speaker showed several points of advantage and disadvantage in various types of fixtures and receptacles.

Mr. Younger started at the basement and gave a list of the things which he thinks should be used throughout the house. He urged that several lights be placed in the basement besides the usual cellar light which is turned on in the upper hallway or in the kitchen. He said that receptacles for appliances such as the washing machine, the electric iron and the flat iron are essential in a well equipped home and that arrangements should be made for an incinerator. He mentioned the built up apparatus for cellar lights which has the glowing eye indicating when the lights have been left burning. This same apparatus is used with receptacles to indicate when the "juice" has been left on.

LIGHTS FOR KITCHEN

In the kitchen, Mr. Younger recommended a ceiling light, at least one light over the sink and the work table, an electric range connection and receptacles enough for all the kitchen equipment which is motor driven, taking into consideration the fact that there are times when more than two of these are in use at a time.

In the breakfast room, he recommended side lights and at least two connections for appliances. For the dining room, he would use a center fixture, probably a silver candle arrangement, side lights and connections for toaster, percolator, chafing dish and anything else that may be used at the table.

Mr. Younger would have many lights in the living room. Bracket lights and one of two ceiling fixtures for general lighting, connections for extra lamps and appliances in every corner of the room. He said that the living room light should be soft and pleasant with the sharper lights for reading and sewing given by lamps.

Even in the hallway, the speaker
